

CINIQ

CENTER FOR DATA AND INFORMATION INTELLIGENCE

AN ANALOG PLACE IN THE DIGITAL WORLD

The CINIQ Center for Data and Information Intelligence is a place for the transfer of technology and information in the triangle of innovation, science and education in Berlin. It is located in the heart of West Berlin and offers an attractive venue to present innovative technologies and to execute workshops, lectures or panel discussions.

WORKING TOGETHER ON THE DATA TECHNOLOGIES OF TOMORROW

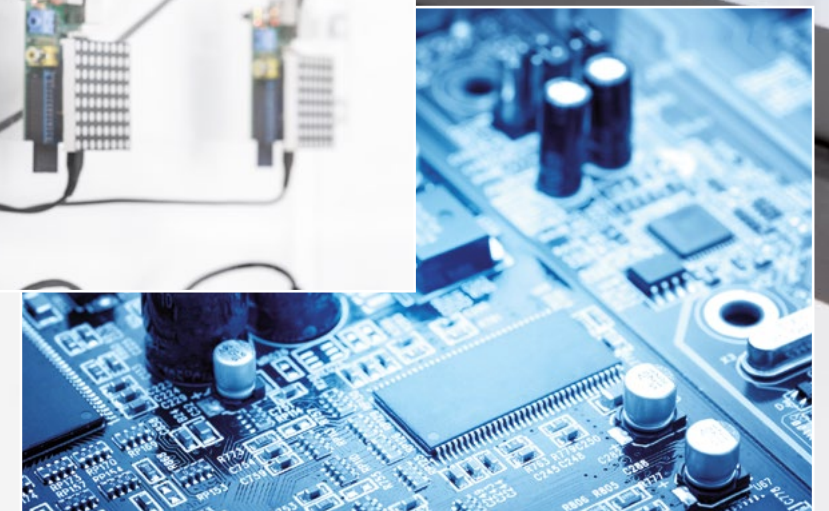

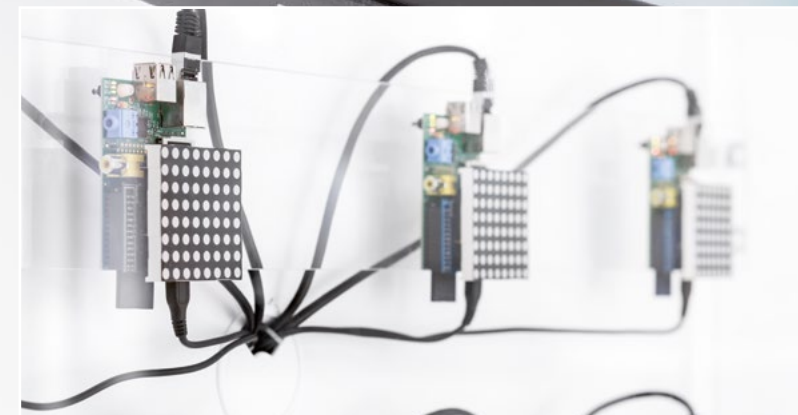

When the CINIQ opened its doors in 2013, the center already possessed a rich fund of experience in the transfer of technology and information being the former THESEUS Information Center. Within the THESEUS research program, initiated by the Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Energy, the center demonstrated a broad spectrum of novel technologies for intelligent data management.

Since then it served as a platform for various activities for knowledge transfer to SMEs, such as the 'eBusiness-Lotse Berlin' and continues those efforts as the Smart Data Forum.

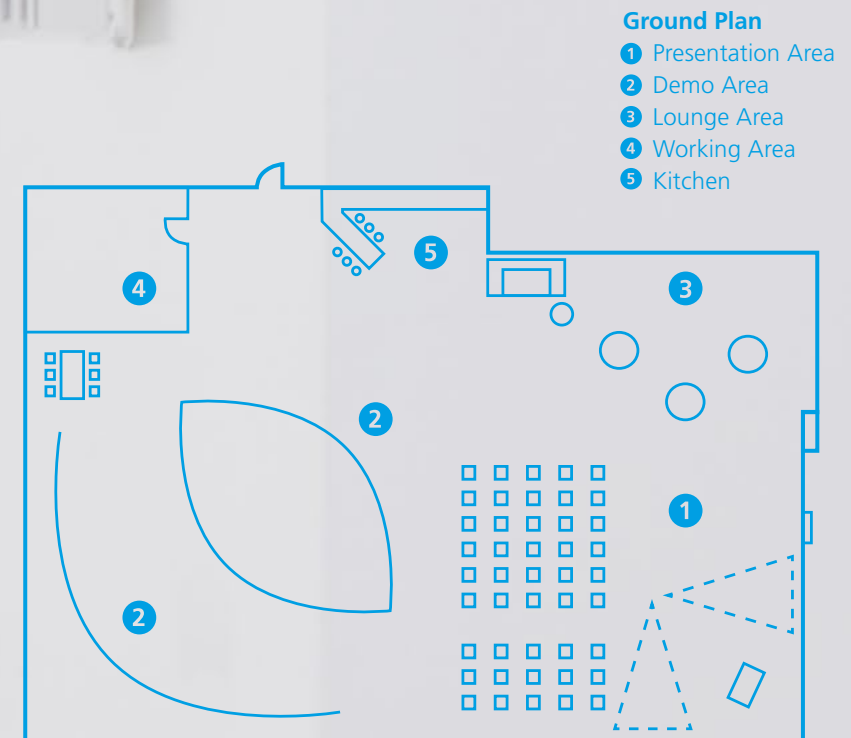

DATA INFORMATION INTELLIGENCE

As a transfer platform the CINIQ Center offers first-hand experience of innovative technologies from the fields of Smart Data, Machine Learning, Industry 4.0 and Cloud Computing.

On the basis of selected applications it is possible to show how technologies and scenarios work. The CINIQ also profits from the close connection to the 3IT – Innovation Center for Immersive Imaging Technologies powered by the Fraunhofer Heinrich Hertz Institute and its remarkable network of many different companies and organizations such as research institutes, universities, film production companies and broadcasters.

OUR FACILITIES

The CINIQ Center with its 500 m² of floor space can host up to 200 guests. Its facilities include an audio and presentation system and the center's on-site team also supports the organization of off-site events.
